

OUT OF EXILE:

Connecting Faith, Community and Mental Illness

A conference focused on helping all kinds of faith communities engage & provide support to families and individuals living with mental illness

When: Thursday, November 13, 2014

Where: First Presbyterian Church, 8001 Mesa Drive, Austin, 78731

Who: you! Clergy, pastoral care teams, seminary students, lay persons, congregation members, individuals and family with mental illness, congregation representatives.

Time: 9:30AM to 3:30 PM

COST: Free (lunch and resource handouts included)

Why: Far too many individuals and family members with mental illness experience shame, stigma and fear of talking about mental illness within their faith communities, and we want to help congregations come out of the shadows, share with one another, and learn tips, tools and resources to connect faith and mental illness supports.

Registration: Go to austinseminary.edu/Exile

Sponsored by: NAMI Austin, One Star Foundation with Austin Interfaith Inclusion Network, PLAN of Central Texas, Austin Presbyterian Seminary

Funded in part by a grant from the Texas Council for Developmental Disabilities
